City capital improvement program totals $6.5 millon

Six-year projection of projects envisions new bond issue in 1974

An ambitious six-year (July 1, 1970 to June 30, 1976) capital improvement for the City of Campbell totalling $6,516,780 will be unveiled before the Planning Commission next Monday night, July 6, by City Manager Bob Stephens.

The six-year projection, which is developed each year by the city staff, envisions a $2,710,000 bond issue in 1974 to provide funds for streets and traffic safety ($1,750,000); parks ($500,000) and fire protection ($460,000).

The first official action will be the informal hearing next Monday of the Planning Commission. After the Planning Commission acts on the program, it is scheduled to go before the City Council.

Stephens emphasizes that the program as it is now being presented is not a final draft, as amendments can be made as a result of the Planning Commission and City Council hearings.

RECOMMENDATIONS

The report, the City Manager points out in his preliminary statement, provides an analysis and recommendations relating to the city's need for capital improvements during the next six years and includes also a progress report for those capital improvement monies which have been either expended or encumbered from the 1967 and 1969 bond issues.

Stephens also points out that the program, or its amended version, does not guarantee that all the improvements will be completed as scheduled. However, it does identify the city's capital improvement needs; schedules the improvements by priority and relates the improvements with projected sources of existing or potential income.

FROM 1967 BONDS

The program calls for an expenditure of $1,835,000 of the 1967 bond issue, with streets and traffic safety using $762,000, the city hall complex, $838,980 and the library, $235,000.

It also calls for $300,000 to be used of the 1969 park bond issue with $220,000 going to Rincon Park and $80,000 to the neighborhood parks.

It also estimates that there will be $760,000 in gas tax and other state subventions for major street projects.

MAJOR STREETS

The major street projects in this category and their estimated cost include:

Hamilton Ave. from Highway 17 to Esther, $240,000.

Latimer Ave. from First St. to Central, $50,000.

Winchester from Sunnyoaks to Division, $20,000.

North Loop from Central to First, $70,000.

Hamilton from Esther to Winchester, $150,000.

Hamilton from Milton to Carlyn, $60,000.

Westmont, Pollard, Harriet and Hacienda, $170,000.

STORM DRAINS

The six-year program also estimates that six storm drain projects will total $118,000 which will come from storm drain fees and current surplus.

The program also foresees a $200,000 federal grant to complete the library and a federal grant of $105,000 for signals and railroad crossing at Hacienda and Winchester ($70,000) and minor streets program ($35,000).

A $210,000 item is estimated for underground utility projects which includes the city hall perimeter for $35,000 and on Campbell Ave. from Bascom to Winchester for $175,000.

It is also estimated that $109,000 will be needed from the city's general fund to finance interior items for the city hall.

PROPOSED BOND ISSUE

The city manager explains that the proposed $2,710,000 bond issue for 1974 to finance streets, fire station and parks is not a firm proposal. The specific amount for each project, its timing and allocation of revenues will have to be re-evaluated on an annual basis up to the time an election date is set, he points out.

The comprehensive 54-page report for the six-year capital improvement program for the city includes many variables, Stephens submits, thereby necessitating a cautious approach in projecting methods to finance capital improvements.

Pending state legislation, the cost allocation for the proposed interchange for Campbell Ave. and Highway 17, and federal funding all will have a bearing on the city's position.

In explaining the need for a six-year capital improvement program, the city manager submits that its purpose is to develop an orderly schedule of improvements which, in turn, helps determine needs, establish priorities and analyzes the city's ability to pay for the improvements.

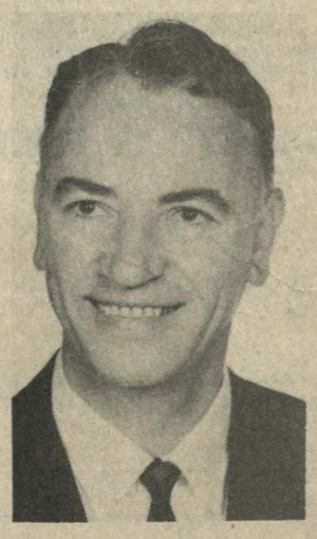
Marking "The Fourth" in a DOGmatic sort of way



This Saturday, July 4, is Independence Day when this country marks the anniversary of its formation as a separate and independent nation. There is no community-wide celebration scheduled for Campbell to mark "The Fourth" but a number of neighborhoods will hold block parties to mark the day.

"Turk", a Great Dane belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sanders, of 669 Emory, got in the spirit of '76 by getting dressed up early to call attention to this nation's birthday.

"Turk" wears a hat with stars with a special cut in the brim to allow his ears to poke out. He also sports a special coat for the patriotic occasion.

Holding the king-sized (but artificial) firecracker in the above photos is five-year-old Connie Sanders, Turk's bosom pal and almost-constant companion.

Revised "Yardstick" plans go before Planners Monday

Revised plans for expansion of "The Yardstick", at 2110 S. Bascom, are expected to be presented to the Planning Commission next Monday night, July 6.

Action on the plans was continued at the June 1 meeting to allow them to be modified to improve the loading area and, in order for the staff to make a parking study of the area.

Residents adjacent to "The Yardstick", especially on El Solyo, have complained about the parking situation that exists at the firm's location and also have opposed any expansion of the operation.

Up before the Commission also next Monday night for approval will be plans submitted by Dr. Patrick Baymiller expanding the Central Animal Hospital, at 951 E. Hamilton. Dr. Baymiller plans to enclose two existing patio areas on the front of the small animal hospital.

Guild West, Inc. is seeking Planning Commission approval of a proposal to improve a city-owned parcel of property adjacent to the office building at 80 Gilman Ave., for parking purposes.

Guild West is suggesting that the parking area could be used jointly by visitors to Campbell Park as well as for the office building.

Eastfield Children's Center, at 251 Llewellyn Ave., is requesting a three-year extension on removal of two portable school buildings on the property.

The original use permit was approved in March, 1969.

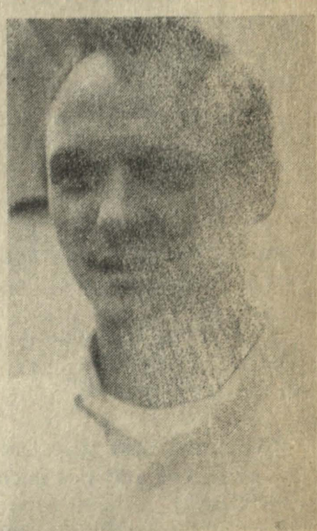
Revised plans of the Sutter Hill Development Co. for the property at 850 W. Hamilton will also be before the Planning Commission. Sutter Hill is requesting approval for a nursery enclosure on the parcel adjacent to where a market is being constructed.

W. C. Beardsley III is asking for approval of remodeling of the sales building at Baker Trailer Sales at 2105 S. Bascom. Permission has already been granted to convert the residential building on the property for general office purposes.

PROMOTED---Michael Ivicevich, assistant manager of the Wells Fargo Bank in Campbell since April, 1968 has been promoted to manager of Wells Fargo Bank's new Park Town Plaza office scheduled to open in late July in Milpitas.

Ivicevich is treasurer of the Campbell Kiwanis Club and a director of the Campbell Chamber of Commerce. Born in Yugoslavia, Ivicevich was raised in Perth, Australia where he studied architecture at Perth Technical College. With his wife, Diana, Ivicevich makes his home in Sunnyvale. They are the parents of two children.

Ivicevich joined Wells Fargo in 1948 and served in the Sunnyvale office for 15 years



COMMISSIONER --- Ted L. Thorsen, 32, a Lockheed engineer, has been appointed to the Parks and Recreation Commission to fill the vacancy created when Bill Podgorsek was elected to the City Council.

Thorsen, who was born in Los Angeles, but grew up in Bellingham, Washington, is a graduate of Webb Institute of Naval Architecture in New York.

A resident of Campbell for six years, he and his wife, Rosalie, reside at 568 Sobrato Drive with their two-year-old son, David.

1970 CENSUS

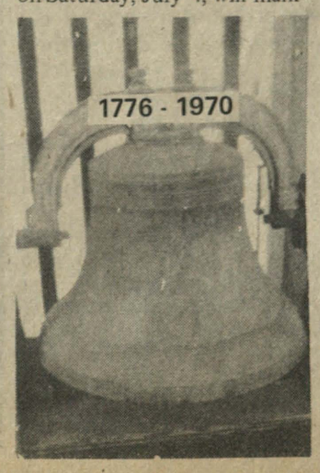
According to Bureau of Census, the City of Campbell has a population of 24,204 and the population of Santa Clara County is 1,057,032.

In the preliminary population report issued by the Bureau, Los Gatos shows a population of 22,835; Milpitas, 26,370; Los Altos, 26,398; Saratoga, 26,899; Cupertino, 17,736; Gilroy, 12,699.

San Jose has 436,965 with Sunnyvale and Santa Clara in second place with 96,425. Palo Alto has 55,413 and Mountain View 54,222.

Campbell bells to ring

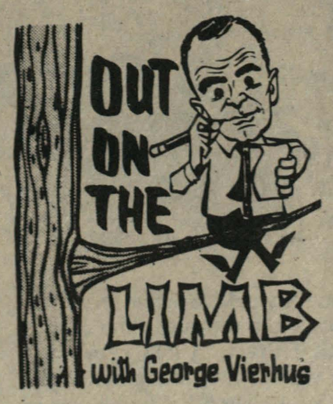
Symbolic ringing of church bells in Campbell at 11 a.m. on Saturday, July 4, will mark the 94th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence.



The Liberty Bell was the first bell rung to announce that the Declaration document had been signed.

Bells at St. Lucy's Catholic Church, 2350 Winchester Blvd.; the First United Methodist Church; 1675 Winchester Blvd.; and the Congregational Church of Campbell, 400 W. Campbell Ave. will all sound off at 11 a.m. and will ring for 10 minutes.

The Catholic and Methodist bells will be electronically ringing, but the deep-throated Congregational bell will be hand-pulled.



REGARDLESS OF HOW one feels personally or whether one would care less about that third screen for the Winchester Drive-In Theater, we imagine that most people, except a relatively few who were at a high emotional pitch over the issue, are somewhat relieved that the long-standing hassle is finally being resolved.

Hopefully the final act is now under way as a result of the City Council's recent action approving the zone change for the six-acre parcel adjacent to the present theater.

The zone change from R-3-S (multiples) to M-1-S (industrial) will allow a drive-in theater operation on the parcel and when and if the use permit is approved, by subsequent Council action, the final curtain will be dropped on what undoubtedly has been the most drawn-out and wearisome zone change controversy in this city's history.

And over the years there have been some humdingers.

Unfortunately there is no way to settle these affairs in a way that will please all concerned.

And, sooner or later, a decision has to be reached.

So, despite the fact that one side is always pleased and the other displeased when final action is taken on any controversial issue, that is the way the ball has to bounce.

It just can't be left up in the air forever.

It won't go away.

THOSE PEOPLE WHO live in the Paseo de Palomas mobile home park that adjoins the Winchester Drive-In Theater have every right to be concerned over the development in the six-acre parcel, now undeveloped, that adjoins the drive-in and on which the third screen is proposed to be located.

It is, of course, a purely academic question as to whether a third screen would be more of a disadvantage to them than an apartment complex, inasmuch as they have a two-screen drive-in theater operation next to 'em.

But we don't intend to get involved in that.

Undoubtedly all those people in the mobile home park would much prefer if nothing was developed in the six-acre plot.

Just leave it fallow.

But, holy smoke, with the price of land today in this area, would that be fair to the people who own it?

Shouldn't they be allowed to do something with it? You are talking about something like $120,000.

And in our league that ain't hay, although we admit that we don't play in the same fiscal league with either the Syufy or the Sahadi teams.

But to get back to the nitty gritty part.

-0-

WHATEVER ACTION the City Council took on the matter would be wrong, as far as some people were concerned.

But that is basically true about any issue of a controversial nature.

Probably the people in Paseo de Palomas won't believe this, but there are literally thousands of good sound citizens in this town who were completely unconcerned about this traumatic experience of the third screen.

And some of those same people have made no bones about telling us that.

They thought The Campbell Press had greatly overplayed the issue.

So you can't win 'em all.

Dr. Hall retires

Dr. Wallace W. Hall, who has served as the president-superintendent of the West Valley College from its inception in 1963, will retire from that position on July 31.

James P. Hardy will be his successor.

Dr. Hall has been called the "father of West Valley College". It is a fitting appellation for this experienced educator who started from scratch at West Valley and saw the college grow during his tenure of office to a present enrollment of 9500 students with a faculty of 170.

Quite naturally there have been problems in the seven years the college has been in existence and obviously there have been critics of the college administration.

But the overall academic achievement and the expansion of the college on so many fronts truly should give Dr. Hall in his retirement a deep feeling of satisfaction.

An almost unbelieveable achievement of Dr. Hall's administration has been the apparent ability of the college to have kept pace with the phenomenal growth despite repeated rejections by the electorate of bond issues.

During Dr. Hall's administration the Saratoga campus was purchased and the engineering-technology building and the math-science complex were built without benefit of bond money.

Currently the language arts-social science complex and the student union are under construction on the site.

We are convinced that without Dr. Hall's leadership and experience these developments would have been much slower in coming.

In his retirement Dr. Hall will be able to "point with pride" to these buildings on the Saratoga campus as a sort of legacy he is leaving the district.

Dr. Hall's ability in these matters has not only been recognized by the governing board of the college but the students themselves are well aware of what his efforts in that respect have meant to them.

In May of this year the students voted to name the student union "The Hall" in his honor and the board subsequently endorsed the idea.

We think that is particularly and peculiarly fitting. "The Hall" thus has a built-in tradition and, as years go by, students will always remember who was the first president of the college.

But while perhaps the buildings on the Saratoga campus may give visible evidence of the accomplishments of the college's first president, the academic program of the college developed during Dr. Hall's administration has also been outstanding.

Many vocational programs at the college have been instituted, including the food services and restaurant management, vocational nursing and data processing.

The college, in its role as a community college, has conducted classes for adults, held seminars, lecture series, recitals, conferences, institutes and workshops.

Under Dr. Hall's leadership, the college has succeeded far beyond expectations in becoming a cultural center of the area.

We think also that Dr. Hall's commitment to student involvement has been largely responsible for the fact that there have been no serious campus disturbances at West Valley, a record that few, if any, other colleges in the Santa Clara Valley, unfortunately, can boast.

Although Dr. Hall has an educational record of 35 years that covers a wide range, from an instructor to a college president and including a number of years as associate superintendent of the state department of education, surely his seven years at the helm of West Valley College must stand out as the most challenging as well as the most satisfying era.

The task of building a junior college from nothing to the institution that it is today has not been an easy one.

We are well aware, of course, that not just one man was responsible for this achievement.

True, Dr. Hall may have furnished the leadership but the governing board offered the necessary guidance and the staff at the college complemented the overall efforts.

Dr. Hall should be extremely proud of his record as the administrator of West Valley College during the past seven years.

The accomplishments have been many.

We wish him and Mrs. Hall the very best in their retirement.

But there will always be "The Hall" on the Saratoga campus.

Good luck, Wally.

MORE ABOUT

cause of the story about the third screen that appeared in the paper.

The woman hung up before Fran could find out if the caller was objecting to the way the story was written or to the action that was taken by the Council.

Admittedly we write these stories about the Council's Monday action on Tuesday with a deadline starkly staring us in the face. So we do hurry a bit.

We re-read the story.

Never having been burdened with a false modesty, we liked what we had written.

Sure, it could have been polished up a bit. But there wasn't that kind of time and it seemed to us that it was factual as all get-out.

So we just sorta shrugged off that call.

After all, we have become pretty much of a pro at that.

Shrugging off, we mean.

Everyone who knows us recognizes that we are noted for our sympathetic, tolerant, placid and unruffled composure.

Or had you noticed?

ON THE CREDIT SIDE of our calls this week was one from a person who suggested that last week's editorial on the single-family housing situation in Campbell was like a "breath of fresh air". (And, you smart guys, that is a direct quote.)

That call, of course, forced us to re-read that editorial.

And, really, if you don't mind our conceit showing a wee bit, again, we liked what we had written on the subject.

For the benefit of those of you who might have missed the editorial, it basically emphasized the need to retain the areas within our city that have been zoned for single-family residences, despite the fact that there has been almost a complete absence of such developments in the last few years.

The editorial commended the Planning Commission for standing firm at a recent meeting and rejecting a zone change request that would allow a duplex complex on a parcel that is now zoned for single-family units and is in an area that calls for low density in the general plan of the city.

We submitted that, in our opinion, the single-family home was not yet doomed in Campbell.

Duplexes and apartments are needed also, we concede, but in Campbell there should be a balanced-housing ratio.

It was nice to know that someone agreed with us.

For a change.

IN URGING THAT THE City Council take immediate action to endorse the various bills in the legislature that favor the lowering of the voting age requirement, Rusty Hammer, chairman of the Youth Advisory Commission, was very persuasive.

The Youth Commission had adopted a resolution (the first one in its brief history) favoring the 18-year voting age and the kids wanted the Council to go along with them.

But the Council felt that it would be premature to endorse any of the pending bills that were in the hopper in Sacramento.

Unlike Rusty they did not see the urgency in the matter.

"Maybe," Rusty pointed out, "that is because you vote and we don't."

That could be.

We note, however, that in the recent upset election in England in which the 18-year-olds were given the opportunity to vote for the first time, only half of those who were eligible in that 18-21 group bothered to go to the polls. (There was, of course, the world cup soccer match going on at the same time.)

And that, too, may be something to think about.

AT A RECENT CITY Council meeting, a recommendation for the promotion of two men in the public works department was presented at the tail-end of the meeting by City Manager Bob Stephens and concurred in by Bill Wren, public works director.

As a long-time observer of Council meetings, we assumed that the approval of the promotions of the two men, who had been acting in their positions for six months, would be routine, inasmuch as both Bob and Bill were making the pitch.

But we were wrong.

It took quite a spell to sort of clear the air.

The paid representative of the newly-formed 12-member union of public works employees was on hand to protest the promotions.

In our opinion, that union official was out-of-line and 'way off base.

He was getting involved in an area that should be the province of only the city manager and the public works director, subject to City Council approval, i.e., the appointment of supervisors.

There are probably many areas in which the union people may be helpful in employee relations.

But we don't think it is in the choosing of their bosses, especially in opposition to recommendations of the city manager and public works director.

For the record, the Council unanimously went along with Bob and Bill.

But it wasn't as routine as we had expected.

program is vital to the realization of the City's objectives because it outlines possible methods of financing the improvements," Stephens said.

SUMMARY BY YEAR

One section of the report summarizes the project on a year-by-year basis.

During 1970-71 (the current year), it is estimated that the projects will cost $1,838,-180 with the city hall complex getting $759,580 from bonds plus $66,000 from the general fund.

The library is listed at $235,000 plus a $50,000 federal grant while parks and recreation has $240,000. Included also is the annual stipend of $39,600 that goes to pay off the lease-purchase of the corporation yard which will be paid off during 1972-73.

A gas tax allocation of $100,000 plus $35,000 from PG&E and $285,000 from bond funds are specified for streets this current year (1970-71).

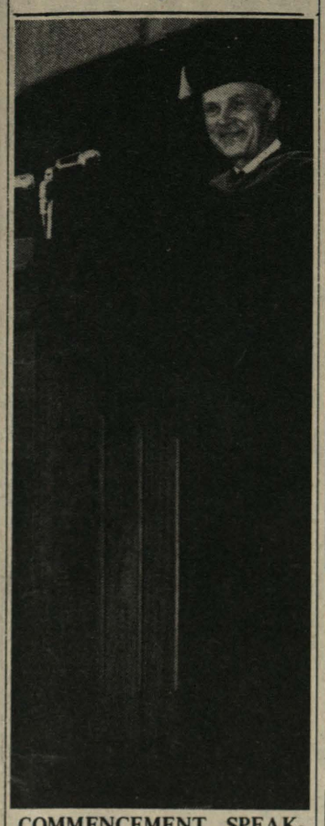
The following year, the projects drop to $842,800 and in 1972-73 to $475,600. In 1973-74 the projects listed total $364,200 and in 1974-75, $380,000.

But the final year of the projection (1975-76) the figure jumps to $2,616,000 with the proposed bond issue taking care of $1,750,000 in street improvements, $435,-000 for a fire station and $100,000 for parks as the major items. The bond issue allows for $1 million for the Highway 17-Campbell Ave. in-change. (See page 12.)

PAST RECORD

In the bulky report, the city manager goes into detail to explain and review the past record of municipal improvements and presents a "progress report" on them, tracing the history of the major developments stemming from the studies made by the citizens committee.

The report also explains in detail the series of actions taken by the City Council relating to the city hall from the beginning of discussions to the awarding of the bid.



COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER---Dr. Wallace W. Hall, superintendent-president of West Valley College since the college was organized in 1963, is retiring as prexy of the institution. He spoke at the commencement exercises of the college at the Saratoga campus. More than 700 candidates were eligible for graduation with approximately 100 taking part in the ceremonies.

Dr. Hall, in his talk, relied on the words of Ralph Waldo Emerson for emphasis. In 1827 Emerson had said, "this time, like all times, is a very good one, if we but know what to do with it".

In addition to Dr. Hall's address, Eugene Palombo, 29, of San Jose, a veteran who had achieved a 3.9 grade point average at the college, gave the valedictory address. Edward Panelli, chairman of the board of trustees, presented Hall with a resolution commending him for his seven years of service to the district.

Telleson placed fifth in competition with rental agencies throughout the Pacific area and as far east as Denver. This was the second time Telleson has joined the select ranks since acquiring the agency this past February.

Tops in the Pacific area was the Concord Truck Rental. Running close behind Telleson were dealers in Palo Alto, Seattle, Denver and Sacramento.

The purpose of the trek is to discover more about America. The National Center of 15,000 acres was purchased two years ago and is being preserved in a primative state, which will require all of the girls' camping knowledge.

Mrs. Harriet Clapes, leader, is accompanying the girls. The lifeguard and emergency driver will be Senior Scout Pattie Kolsad. Scouts participating in the trip are Jean Bicocca, Donna Collins, Debbie Clapes, Caroline Mott, Connie Boren, Colleen Clay, Carla Mesquita and Linda Dresback.

The group will return to Campbell approximately August 7.

WINNER OF SAILBOAT--Marie Marquez shows Bob Telleson of the United Rent-All in Campbell the winning ticket in the recent Home Expo at San Jose Civic Auditorium. Winner of the Stow-Boat, a folding sailboat, is Ann Christopher of Sunnyvale.

The boat, shown at the Home Expo by Telleson, was one of a number of prizes won by visitors to the show.

ON CAPITOL HILL

with "Charlie" Gubser

It is very possible that young Americans who worked so hard to secure the right to vote for 18 years olds may have been led down the primrose path of expediency. If the Supreme Court declares the recently passed 18 year old voting law unconstitutional, they may lose what they fought so hard to win.

The safe but slower way would have been to amend the Constitution as we did when women were given the right to vote. That process took 15 months.

Last year the House passed a bill to extend the Voting Rights Act which has done much to encourage, and allow, Southern Negroes to vote. Senator Ted Kennedy decided that a simple law (not a constitutional amendment) could give 18 year olds the right to vote, so he tacked it on "piggy back" to the Voting Rights Bill.

Then it languished in the House Judiciary Committee because its liberal Democratic Chairman Emanuel Celler believed the 18 year old vote provision was unconstitutional. In the meantime, progress on a "safe and sure" constitutional amendment was stalled.

Finally, liberals forced a vote on a strictly procedural move to accept the Senate amendments without any House hearings or debate.

They won and effectively killed any chance to separate the two issues so the 18 year old vote could be considered in a manner which guaranteed its constitutionality.

Because this procedural parliamentary situation has not been adequately explained by the press, the false impression has been created that it was the only vote on the 18 year old question. Actually the following vote (Roll Call #176) was the real vote on that question and it carried 272 yeas to 132 nays.

Good lawyers disagree on the constitutionality of the new law. Some claim that Article I, Section 2 of the Constitution requires a state to set the same voting age requirement for a congressional election as for an election to one house of a state legislature. The seventeenth Amendment says the same thing for senatorial elections. Thus, the Constitution clearly leaves the decision on voting age to the states.

Others argue that a recent court decision authorizes Congress to ignore Article I, Section 2. But they forget that two Justices of the present Supreme Court dissented in the case they rely upon, another may change, and new Justices Burger and Blackmun are strict constitutional constructionists. This adds up to five – a majority.

Those who refused to separate the voting rights extension from the 18 year old question use the rationale that the end justifies the means. Though the degree is not the same, it is interesting that Adolph Hitler used the same logic. After Hitler, mankind reestablished well ordered procedure as the slow, but right way to achieve change.

Now 18 year old voting is under a cloud because Congress passed up the slow but safe way of following established procedure. The establishment crumbled and young people believe they won a victory. But have they?

Newly-weds make first home in Merced

MR. AND MRS. GERALD LEE KOHN

Miss Linda Rae Dye and Gerald Lee Kohn exchanged vows June 6 at St. Lucy's Catholic Church with Father John Brennan officiating at the double ring ceremony and Nuptial Mass.

For her wedding day the bride wore a floor length Chantilly lace gown and satin underdress with a long flowing lace train. A three-tiered tule headpiece was held with a jeweled flower-like crown, and she carried a cascade of white roses and stephanotis.

For "something new" Linda wore a gold bracelet with a heart engraved "From this day forth - For Better or Worse" presented to her by the bridegroom.

Miss Christine Hansen was chosen by Linda to serve as maid of honor. Three-year-old Ruthie Bustos served as flower girl and Angela Bustos, age five, as ring bearer. The honor attendants all wore floor length gowns in two shades of pink and each carried a cascade of carnations and ferns.

Linda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Dye, Campbell residents for many years who have just moved out of the area. She is a 1967 graduate of Westmont High School and Willow Glen Beauty College.

Gerald is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kohn of Merced and is a graduate of Our Lady of Mercy, Merced, and just recently completed four years service with the U. S. Navy. He is currently employed by a Merced implement dealer.

Gerald called upon his brothers to make up the bridal party with Bobby as best man and Dennis and Larry as ushers. Larry attended the wedding from Syracuse, New York.

Carrying out the pink wedding color theme were the gowns chosen by both the bride and groom's mothers, with Mrs. Dye wearing a light pink dress set off by a row of jeweled buttons and a long sleeved lace overcoat. A light pink petal flowerlet hat and shoes to match completed the outfit.

Mrs. Kohn was also in pink, having chosen a lace dress with a three-quarter length coat set off by a soft pink chiffon hat.

Following the wedding the newlyweds greeted their guests at a reception held at the Imperial Club Room at the Imperial Mobile Estates. A sit-down catered buffet luncheon followed the reception.

Instead of throwing her bouquet, the new Mrs. Kohn presented it to her friend, Miss Carlene Lorenz who is being married in early August, while the groom sent the garter to his brother Donny who is in Memphis, Tenn. with the U. S. Navy and could not attend the wedding.

Following a honeymoon spent in Carmel and Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Kohn are making their first home in Merced.

BECKY PARDOE

Betrothal announced

A champagne party given recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Pardoe, 312 Christopher Ave., was the occasion for announcement of the betrothal of their daughter, Becky to Nick Infantino.

Becky is a graduate of Campbell High School and is currently preparing to take her California State Board exam for her cosmetologist license.

Nick is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Infantino of 3009 Kirk Ave. A Branham High School graduate, he is pursuing a foreign language study at West Valley College. He is also working as a journeyman grocery clerk for a local firm.

No wedding date has been set by the young couple.

Golden Wedding occasion for family reunion

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Toulouse of Yamkima, Washington, celebrated their Golden Wedding anniversary Sunday, June 28.

Attending the gala affair from Campbell were their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stephens, who drove up over the weekend.

Accompanying the Stephens was their son, Robert, Jr. from Ontario, California. Also attending from California were the Stephens' daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Sustrich and their daughter Michelle.

While in Washington Stephens also enjoyed a visit with his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Ross E. Stephens, who live in the area. Mrs. Stephens enjoyed the family reunion and a visit with her friends before returning to Campbell this week. Stephens is the city manager of Campbell.

SCHOLARSHIP WINNER--- Miss Nina Andro, Blackford High School graduate, center, was one of the recipients of the Women's Service Club scholarship presented recently at the installation luncheon held at Waikiki Village. Miss Grace Matteson of Leigh High School was also presented with a scholarship. Making the presentation were Mrs. Daniel Allison, outgoing president, on the left, and Mrs. Lowell Besack, incoming president, on the right.

Mrs. Moya named grant winner

Mrs. Sally Armond Moya, 61 N. Leigh Ave., has been awarded the Kappa Kappa Gamma Centennial Rehabilitation grant for a graduate woman student of San Jose College for the school year 1970-71.

Mrs. Moya is 29, and was selected from a group of applicants as the one with the greatest promise, motivation and skill. Mrs. Moya has worked privately and as a teacher with retarded children. Her field of endeavor is education in learning disability.

PHARMACY PHACTS

By Allan Blaine

Saliva may soon become an even more valuable diagnostic aid than blood.

A promising blood substitute, called hemoglobin solution, has been developed at Michael Reese Hospital in Chicago. It's non-toxic and non-coagulating, and can transport oxygen through the body.

Between the ages of 55 and 64, the diabetic rate among women – especially married women – is twice as high as among men. Glandular changes that occur during pregnancy may be the reason.

Aerotitis, a middle-ear inflammation that results from airplane landings, can be decreased by chewing gum or candy, or eating a meal.

Enrollment up in WV summer school classes

Enrollment in the summer session at West Valley College soared again, according to recent figures compiled by Don Ziegler, dean of admissions and records.

Enrollment in the current summer session jumped 28.6 per cent higher than last year's enrollment. Last year 2198 students took classes in summer, while 2826 registered for classes this year.

Registration went very smoothly on June 22, but there were still lines which had to be faced, and classes which were sometimes closed.

New and returning students to the college for the fall semester may pick up a registration packet at the Campbell campus between July 21 through July 31 from 6 to 9 p.m.

Students wishing to avoid the lines this fall are urged to handle registration in this manner. When picking up registration materials students should bring their social security card with them.

Pro soccer team plays here this Saturday night

The San Jose Kings scored their first victory in professional soccer on Saturday night, June 27, by defeating the Sacramento Senators 1-0 in Sacramento.

The Kings goal came 10 minutes before the end of the first half when player-coach Harry Smits fired a cross pass to agile Attila Sandor who, then, outmaneuvered two Sacramento defenders, worked the ball into the clear and fired it past the outstretched hands of the Sacramento goalie John Diaz, into the left corner of the net.

The Kings return to action this Saturday night, July 4, at 6:30 p.m. at the Campbell High School field where they will entertain the Concord Patriots. The preliminary game between two high school all-star teams will begin at 5 p.m.

Colonial Savings gives flag pins at all offices

Colonial Savings and Loan Association is offering American Flag lapel pins free to anyone visiting the Campbell office at 1510 S. Winchester or any of the six other offices in the bay area.

The offices anticipate distributing up to 10,000 flags by July 10. Colonial Savings became aware of the lapel flags when employees purchased and wore them to express their confidence in our government and their pride in being Americans.

Impressed by this quiet demonstration of national faith, management decided to take positive steps to encourage it. Thus the free Flag offer.

Colonial Savings and Loan has offices in Campbell, Novato, Tiburon, Fremont, Daly City and in the West Portal and Marina districts in San Francisco.

In addition, and as a part of Colonial Savings emphasis on the American heritage, they are now making available the first coin in a collection of 13 facsimile coins minted in the American Colonies prior to Independence Day, 1776.

This collection includes the Colonial Dollar, the fabled Brasher Doubloon and 11 others to be given to patrons each week for 13 weeks.

Each coin is separately packaged with a printed history of the circumstances of its coinage

SPORTS FANS!

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By Al Salciccia

I bet you didn't know...

What was the longest home run ever hit?...How about this one...The New York Giants once played an exhibition game on Staten Island, N.Y., and during that game a player hit a homer over the fence and the ball hit a man standing on the deck of a ship going by...The ship was going to England and the man who was hit by the ball kept it and mailed it back to New York with the note that this was "proof" that this was the longest home run in history, with the ball traveling from New York to England without stopping--a distance of over 3,000 miles!

Few people realize how fast a human being can swing a golf club...Recent tests have shown that at the instant a good player hits the ball, his clubhead is moving at more than 100 miles an hour!...And the player's hands at that moment travel 23 miles an hour.

Southwest "Y" summer camps open for family, boys and girls

Sometimes the summer can be too long, and when youngsters start moping around the house "without a thing to do," the Southwest Branch YMCA has the remedy:

Summer camp.

There's nothing like a week of camping to snap children out of the summer doldrums. And if the whole family has the doldrums, take the whole family along. The Southwest Y also offers a family camp. All camps are open to both members and non-members.

While the branch serves the entire West Valley area, interested residents living elsewhere in the country may sign up for any of Southwest's camps. There are day camps for both boys and girls, caravans and a back pack in addition to the family camp.

For further information about any camp, residents can visit the Y at 16500 Mozart Ave., Los Gatos, or call 356-7126.

Following is the camping lineup:

DAY CAMPS:

Boys and girls entering grades 2, 3 and 4 will be bused daily for five days to three area parks for a beginning camping experience. All boys camps are scheduled June 29-Aug. 21 while camps for boys and girls will be held July 13-Aug. 7.

RESIDENT CAMPS:

A new camp on the shore of Lake Sequoia in Sequoia National Park is offered this year to boys entering grades 6, 7 and 8 Aug. 22-29.

Additionally the regular Camp Campbell sessions in the Santa Cruz Mountains are scheduled Aug. 8-15 for boys entering grades 4, 5 and 6; July 6-11 for girls in the same grades and June 27-July 5 for the entire family.

CARAVANS:

A bus caravan will take boys entering grades 7, 8 and 9 through Lassen Park, Crater Lake and on to Oregon's Rogue River for a five-day trip down the river in rubber rafts.

The session July 23-Aug. 1 is also open to dads, as is the July 11-Aug. 1 caravan through the Mammoth Lakes-Yosemite area for boys entering grades 7, 8 and 9.

BACK PACK:

Tioga Pass and the Yosemite Valley are the routes of this 10-day trek for boys entering grades 8, 9 and 10. It will be held July 3-12.

Also scheduled is a High Sierra challenge for high school boys who would like to combine work on the Y's new Kit Carson Pass camp with camping experiences at a minimal cost. It will be conducted Aug. 19-28.

Southwest is one of four branches of the Metro Y of Santa Clara Valley offering summer camping programs. Information about any camps is available at the Metro Y or its branches.

Man takes wild car hood ride

Dennis Ewing, 21, was just standing around minding his own business Friday night. He was in the Gaslighter Theater enjoying the company, and never dreamed that in a short while he would be clinging to the hood of a car, and hanging on to windshield wipers, while the driver weaved from side to side trying to shake off an unwanted passenger.

According to the Campbell Police report, Mrs. Richard Bicker, Campbell Rock Shop owner at 412 E. Campbell Ave., suspected that two "customers" had helped themselves to the contents of her purse which had been left in the unlocked office.

The two suspects ran from the store with Mrs. Bicker in hot pursuit. Ewing and Thomas Tilney heard the commotion and joined in the chase, stopping the man suspect about two blocks down the street. While bringing him back to the Rock Shop, the suspected thief asked if he could go to his car for something. He then broke away, jumped in the car and started to take off.

Ewing reportedly was in front of the car and had to jump on the car hood to escape being run down. A wild ride through Campbell residential streets ended on Industrial Street where, according to the police report, the suspected thief reportedly beat at Ewing with a stick in an attempt to dislodge his "hood" passenger.

Finally the driver made his escape, Ewing called the police and the car with the two suspects was picked up a short time later.

Booked into the Santa Clara County jail on charges of grand theft, among other charges, were Tony Lucero and Grace Zonatto.

Mrs. Bicker reported the purse had contained $334.17.

REPORT FROM WASTELAND, by William Proxmire (Non-Fiction)

Senator Proxmire tells the story of his sub-committee's hearings on the nation's all powerful military-industrial complex which were conducted last summer-Senator Proxmire points out that the complex with its many tentacles, should really be called the military-industrial-bureaucratic-labor-intellectual-technical-academic complex. In one way or another, it directly touches almost everyone in the United States It absorbs close to half of every tax dollar paid to the federal government. His battle against waste arises not solely from indignation over the squandering of national resources on inefficient and sometimes unnecessary weapons production. His deepest concern is that national security is threatened by weapons that fall far short of specifications. Senator Proxmire offers practical suggestions on how to reduce and realign the defense budget.

CRISIS IN EDEN, by Frederick Elder (Non-Fiction)

A timely and unique probe into an urgent problem, this enlightening ecological study emphasizes the necessity for re-evaluation of man's relation to nature. Because Reverend Elder sees a definite relationship between ethical considerations and man's present devastating exploitation of nature, he proposes a revolution in values. Elder sees a bleak future for mankind if the present ecological crisis is not solved. His suggestions deserve the attention of everyone especially churchmen.

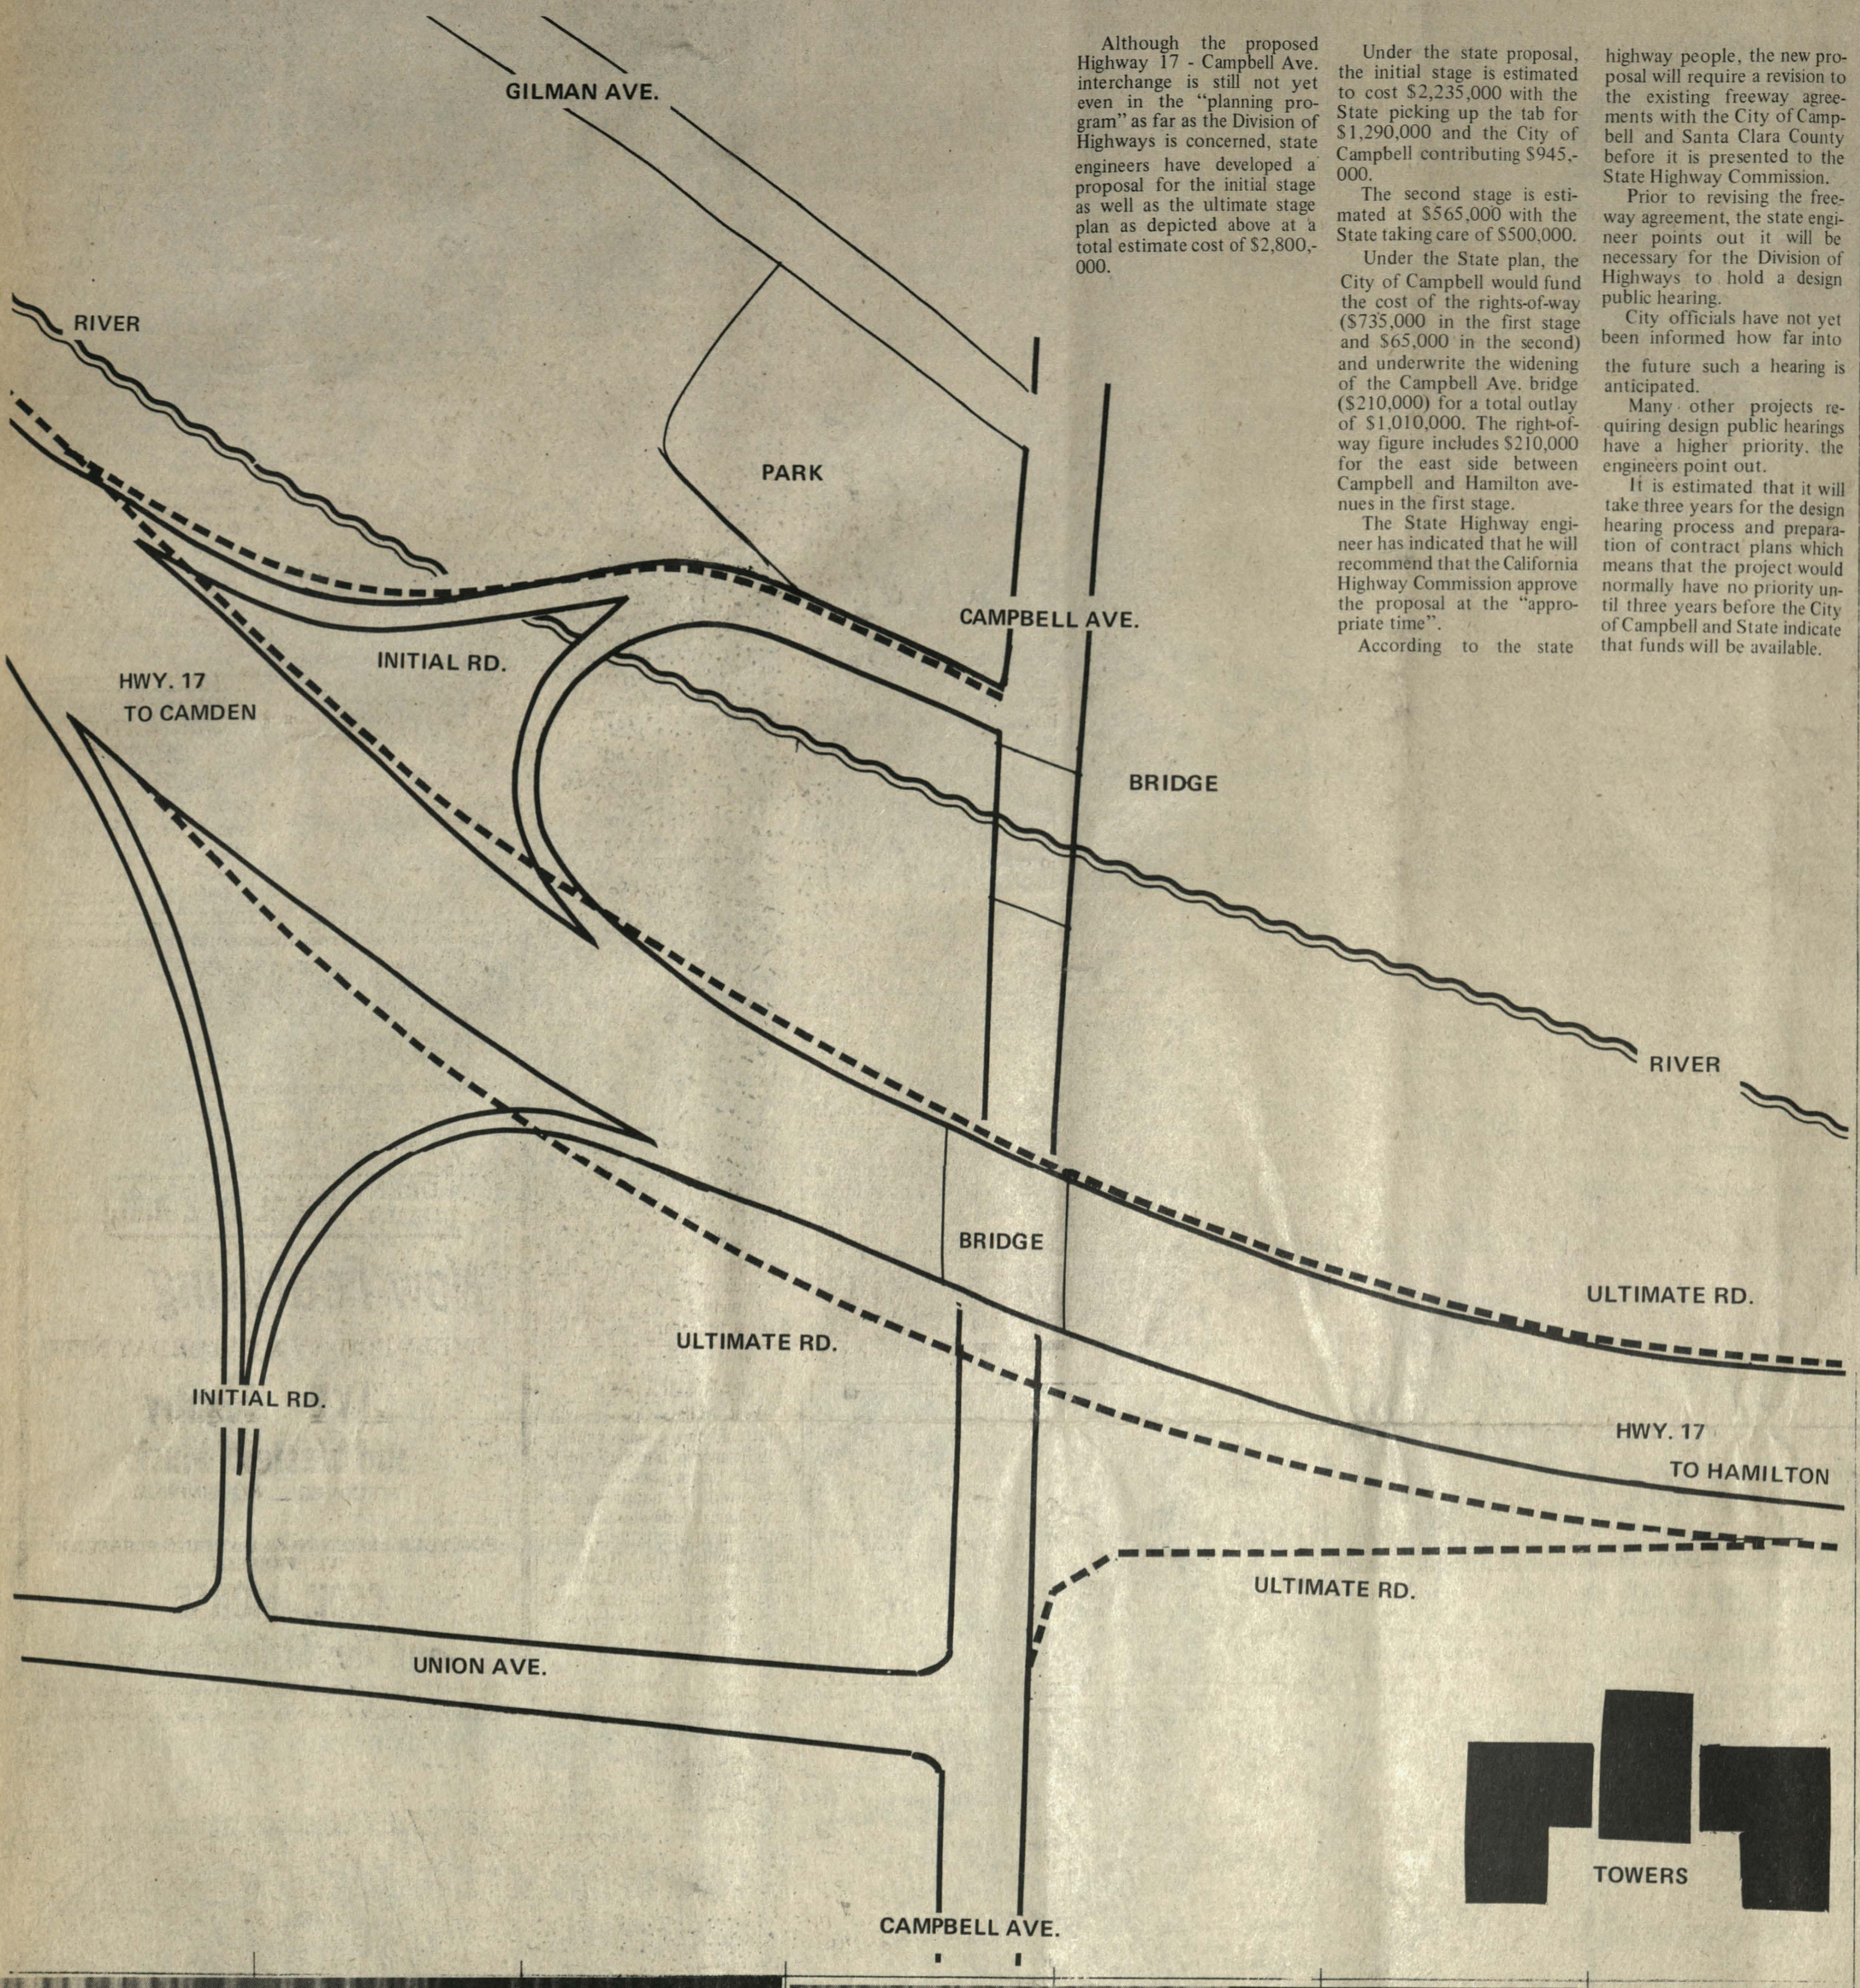
State presents proposal for interchange at Highway 17-Campbell Avenue



Although the proposed Highway 17 - Campbell Ave. interchange is still not yet even in the "planning program" as far as the Division of Highways is concerned, state engineers have developed a proposal for the initial stage as well as the ultimate stage plan as depicted above at a total estimate cost of $2,800,000.

Under the state proposal, the initial stage is estimated to cost $2,235,000 with the State picking up the tab for $1,290,000 and the City of Campbell contributing $945,000.

The second stage is estimated at $565,000 with the State taking care of $500,000.

Under the State plan, the City of Campbell would fund the cost of the rights-of-way ($735,000 in the first stage and $65,000 in the second) and underwrite the widening of the Campbell Ave. bridge ($210,000) for a total outlay of $1,010,000. The right-of-way figure includes $210,000 for the east side between Campbell and Hamilton avenues in the first stage.

The State Highway engineer has indicated that he will recommend that the California Highway Commission approve the proposal at the "appropriate time".

According to the state highway people, the new proposal will require a revision to the existing freeway agreements with the City of Campbell and Santa Clara County before it is presented to the State Highway Commission.

Prior to revising the freeway agreement, the state engineer points out it will be necessary for the Division of Highways to hold a design public hearing.

City officials have not yet been informed how far into the future such a hearing is anticipated.

Many other projects requiring design public hearings have a higher priority, the engineers point out.

It is estimated that it will take three years for the design hearing process and preparation of contract plans which means that the project would normally have no priority until three years before the City of Campbell and State indicate that funds will be available.

Ebbetts Pass presents slice of scenic history of gold-rush era

California has many trails of historic interest, and Ebbetts Pass, State Highway 4, known as the Emigrant Trail during the gold-rush days, offers a scenic trip for any who want to travel over this unhurried route that dips into the past in a hundred places.

Originating in Mother Lode country, Ebbets Pass winds its way through Angels Camp, Murphys, past the Calaveras Big Trees state park and the wintertime ski areas. It climbs toward the summit at 8.730 feet and the half dozen or more U.S. Forest Service campgrounds, passes the ghost town of Silver Mountain and follows the Carson River down the other side to Markleeville and Woodfords.

Ebbetts Pass is a route which saw many uncommon happenings along its course.

It was in the summer of 1861 that an eerie caravan moved into the deep shadows of the Big Trees and moved on up the line as miners watched, dumfounded. Nine two-humped camels imported from the Gobi Desert in Mongolia, were on their way from San Francisco to Nevada to haul salt from Columbus Marsh to the silver mines of Virginia City.

A more familiar figure to the miners was a giant Norwegian rancher who hauled the mail and other items across the snowbound Sierra Nevadas for two decades. Snowshoe Thompson could make the trip from Murphys all the way to Genoa over snow sometimes 50 feet deep in three days. The return trip he often pared to 48 hours.

State Highway 4 takes its name from Major John Ebbetts, an army officer who conducted surveys in the 1850's seeking practicable routes across the Sierra Nevada. The route was opened in the early '50's but no wagon train went that way until 1864, when, as a result of the opening up of the Comstock Lode in Nevada, a toll road was completed.

There are many picturesque highlights for byway travelers over the route today.

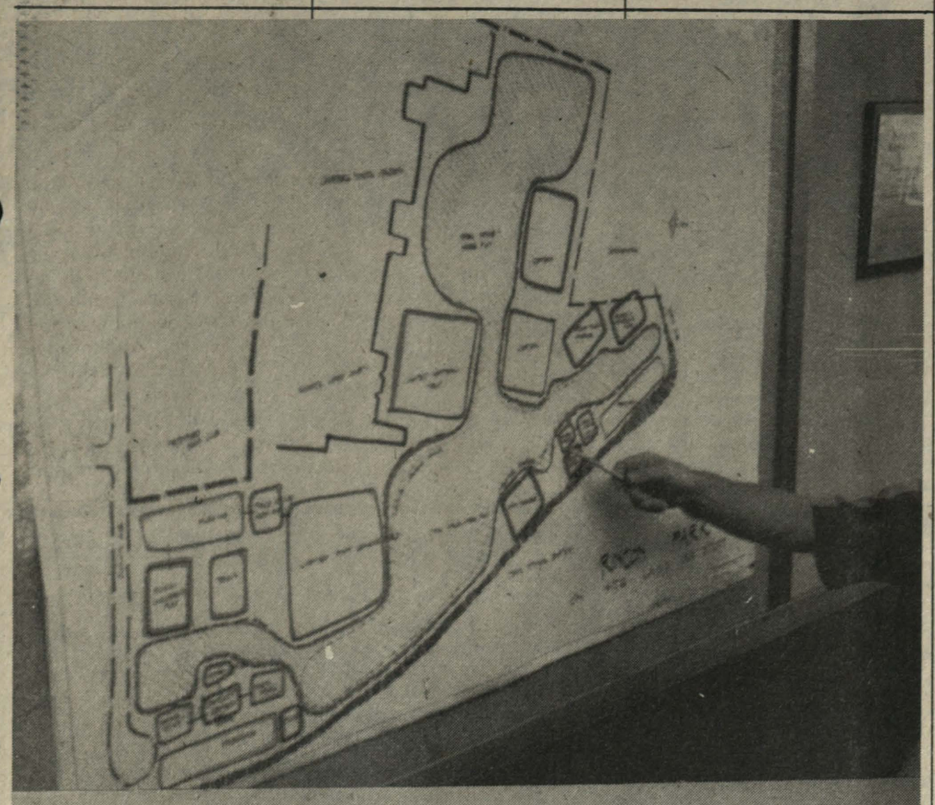
Markleeville, the tiny county seat of California's lonesome Alpine County, was first an unnamed logging site. Incorporated in 1864, it supplied timber for the mines of Virginia City. Today, it is a quiet, little town that sleeps beneath the shadow of 9,465 foot Markleeville Peak.

Vanished ghost towns are along State Route 4 – Monitor and Mogul once stood here, and Silver Mountain. Monitor and Mogul are both gone without a trace. And all that remains of Silver Mountain, the town that went from boom to bust in 20 years, is a crumbling wall of white field stone surrounded by a wire fence. Sage has reclaimed the site that overlooks the busy creek.

Calaveras Big Trees, one of the wonders of the Ebbetts Pass route, is credited with being found by A. T. Dowd in 1852 while he was pursuing a wounded bear. The two Calaveras groves - North and South - contain many of the giant sequoias, one of which was chopped down by men just to see if they could accomplish the feat. The stump was big enough to have a small hotel built on it, later became a dance pavilion and today is there for children to climb, for adults to stand on and marvel.

South of the state park is Murphys, one of the most charming of the Mother Lode Camps, and dating back to 1849. Its quiet, tree-lined streets beckon you to walk down them and relive some of its history. Near Murphys is Mercer Cave, one of many limestone caverns in the region. Another, Moaning Cave, near Vallecito, is famed because of the collection of prehistoric human bones found at the bottom of a 210-foot pit.

Ebbetts Pass is a scenic slice of California history and is wait-a-while country that invites you to stop somewhere in the high country and enjoy all of it.



PRELIMINARY PARK PLAN---At a special meeting of the Parks and Recreation Commission last Wednesday night, Kenneth Arutunian, landscape architect, unveiled the preliminary master plan for Rincon Park. The architect explained that the plan was based primarily on the information provided him from the city-wide survey that had been taken.

The preliminary plan suggested ways the 24-acre parcel (including the Campbell School area) could be utilized with emphasis on open space. The architect suggested also that considerable "earth sculpturing" should be used in the area.

Members of the Park and Recreation Commission indicated their overall approval of the plan but requested a couple of more weeks to study the plan in more detail and to get further public comment.

THESE ARE NO-NO's---The pictured fireworks are illegal and dangerous, according to Campbell Fire Chief George Maxwell. All have been confiscated in Campbell, and could cause serious injury or fires. Firecrackers, cherry bombs, rockets and many other exploding and flying objects are illegal. Safe and sane fireworks are on sale for the Fourth of July celebration at many of the stands throughout Campbell, but even so the fire chief warned that caution should be used in lighting the fireworks and in handling them afterwards, as some may remain hot for a long time. If a fire display malfunctions, handle it with caution, as some take a long time to ignite. Do not allow children to light fireworks unless supervised, don't use fireworks near dry grass, weeds or buildings and don't hold fireworks in your hand after lighting. Call the Fire Department immediately if injury or fire results.

Owning a dog should have as much pleasure as it has responsibility. I fail to see how either a dog or his owner can derive much from each other when the owner has abdicated his responsibility beyond feeding and shelter.

If a dog is truly man's best friend, then the friendship should have an opportunity to flourish.

Ball-playing is a lot of fun for both dog and man. Man throws; dog retrieves.

Except, that, believe it or not, many dogs have never learned HOW to retrieve. Dogs are NOT all retrievers by nature and need a little teaching.

"Tease" the dog before throwing the ball and then, if necessary, run after the ball yourself. Get very excited about the game and most dogs will catch on after a while – like about the time the owner thinks he is going to drop from running with dog.

One fellow I know takes his dog jogging with him every evening around the local high school track. Other dogs have "house" toys, such as balls, squeaky toys, etc., which they will bring to you to hide or throw.

Warm weather has varying effects on dogs. Some long-coated dogs who don't receive routine grooming, do need a trip to the local dog salon for a bath and a haircut to cut down on the possibility of parasites attaching themselves to his skin.

Dogs go "off their feed" on very hot days and leave food untouched. Don't worry unless you see other signs of illness, such as mattery eyes, diarrhea, or vomiting.

It might be time to introduce a little variation in the diet – or to go to the butcher for a big knucklebone.

Industries involving dogs and dog products are growing by leaps and bounds. Allied activities, such as dog shows, training classes, new veterinary hospitals and boarding kennels have increased also.

And, like any other activity, the charlatan may also be present. If you get involved with some activity or make some purchase that "just doesn't set well", don't be fooled that just because animals are involved that there can't be a profiteer around.

If you don't like something or suspect that you've been "taken," don't hesitate to investigate further. The true dog breeder, pet supply company, etc., is more than anxious to keep the "taint" out of the dog world. Fortunately, most "shady" deals seem to be the exception rather than the rule.

What to do when you've lost or found a pet? There are two or three volunteer agencies who do a great job of trying to return lost pets. In addition, there are local agencies who impound strays and who are more than happy to have them restored to their owners. A few veterinarians have facilities for keeping dogs, or know who you might call for help. Boarding kennels generally cannot take strays, as their facilities must be kept for the "paying guests."

If it is at all possible for you to personally keep that stray for a week, you will be more likely to find the owner lives just down the block. It sometimes takes a few days for them to insert an ad in the paper and a few more days for you to find out that the little shaggy peke cross is really a Lhasa Apso.

Funny thing, some owners find they can't even really describe their dog or his collar or color once he's left the yard.

Try taking his picture and sending your ten-year-old around the neighborhood with it.

Graduates of the program will be qualified for technician or aide positions of employment with county park departments, the National Park Service, the United States Forest Service, and other similar public and private agencies that provide outdoor recreational programs.

"WE'RE NUMBER ONE!"

The WVC gridders pulled in their first ever Camino Norte Conference title while posting a 9-0 season mark and taking a number one state ranking for three weeks. But Valley lost to Chabot 45-20 in the first round of the state play-offs to end their Cinderella year.

RACQUETEERS IN BEST SEASON EVER

The Valley tennismen rambled to a 7-5 third place finishing in the conference after many years as the league's cellar-dweller. Ron Denevi played number one for the Vikes on the season winning eight of the ten matches during the dual-match year.

TRACKMEN SHARE CNC CROWN

A total team effort brought in a 1970 tie for the CNC track title for the Vikes. Dan Cruz led Valley performers as he set a new school record in the mile run at 4:12.7 and went on to place fifth at the state meet.

TRUSTEE CANDIDATE

Dear Editor,

As your newspaper has announced, there is a vacancy on the Campbell Union School District Board of Trustees to be filled by special election, July 21. One of the five candidates is uniquely qualified for this position and will represent the electorate – Judy Ruscigno.

Judy attended Campbell Grammar School, Del Mar High and San Jose State College, and has served in an advisory capacity on several district committees. She has followed school board actions closely, acquiring a thorough understanding of the educational process and the problems that face our schools.

Judy is dedicated to the principle that the Trustees' primary obligation is to represent the electorate and to serve the best interests of the children.

Having recently completed a study of the school budget with present Board members and district personnel, she is aware of the intricate process of school finance. Judy is the only candidate who will bring convictions to the Board on morality and fiscal responsibility.

Judy Ruscigno is qualified to serve on the Board of Trustees by virtue of educational background and demonstrated interest in Board operations.

ECO-MESSAGE

Dear Editor:

For sometime now I have been an individual witness and contributor to the massive destruction of our environment, our earth household, and have done nothing to reverse this course. In the past few months I have been reading books and magazine articles dealing with the growing destruction of our planet earth.

Reading them has made me realize that our life styles, our industries, and our population growth are leading to the extinction of more and more species, to the poisoning of our air, water and food, and to the exhaustion of resources on earth. However, merely realizing these problems in our heads is not sufficient.

We must face them, understand their causes, and take action immediately. Action though cannot be effective unless each one of us is acutely aware of the problems. It would be a grave misconception to think that someone else is going to solve our problems, that goes for "technology" too.

Awareness of the problems then, seems to me to be imperative at this stage. When I go into a supermarket and see people buying non-returnable bottles, it is evident they are not aware of the solid waste disposal problem, and that every big city in the U. S. is running out of dumping grounds.

Campbell is not the small rural community it used to be, but it is still small enough to unite itself against our environmental crisis.

We must find ways to transform our ways of managing the earth household to insure our survival and the healthy continuence of our earth's life support systems.

CLEAN-UP PARK

To The Editor:

A few months ago we were happy to vote for the new park on West Rincon Avenue for the sake of the young people's ball park. Now we are not so happy with the situation we find is going on there.

Those using the park are not very good neighbors, it seems as though. Since nothing has yet been done to keep the dust down over there, they race in with their autos raising a terrible dust behind them.

Also, sad to say, the smaller children are often left unsupervised while parents are enjoying the game. This is rather tough on us old folks.

One more thing that some may not realize, the papers they throw down on the park property do not stay there. After a stiff breeze my poor husband has to pick up quite an assortment of debris that has blown in from the park. This is a lot harder on old backs than young ones.

We would suggest that those in charge have the young people police the park after the games. This would also tend to make them more careful with their trash. (This is not to say that the young ones are responsible for all that mess, we know for a fact they are not.)

We still are in favor of the young people having a place to play ball, but we would like to see them shown the proper responsibility for the rights of others by their parents mending their ways in regard to the way they use this park.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Charles Edwards
507 W. Rincon
